

A VISION FOR THE FUTURE

The National Museum of Language will be a breathtaking new museum dedicated to the most profound and unique of human abilities – language. The Museum will be a place for everyone to discover the beauty and complexity of language in all its facets.

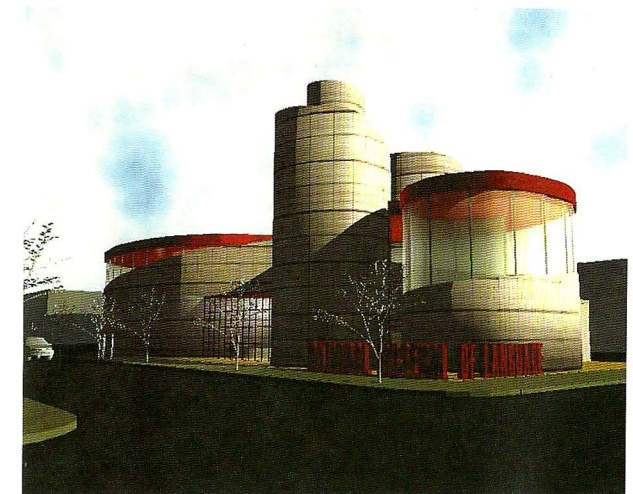

By fostering the study of the nature of language, its development, and its role and importance in society, the Museum will serve as a resource for people in all walks of life. The NML will establish collections of research materials related to language and will develop programs and exhibits to explore language in society and its essential role in the histories of civilizations and cultures. Resident and traveling programs will address audiences of all ages, introducing them to the wonder and beauty of language. The Museum will provide a focal point and facilities for language professionals to meet, share ideas, and present cutting-edge research.
